Seasonal Flowers

Bramble & Blossom is a proud member of the Slow Flowers community. But what the heck are "slow flowers"? Flowers brought in by turtles? Snails? Sloths? Nope! Though all of that would be cute.

Being a Slow Flowers designer means that we focus on the local, especially flowers grown within 100 miles of Pittsburgh.

Sourcing farther afield always means sourcing from American farms. No imports. Ever.

There are just too many wonderful flowers growing right here in our region and too much negative impact on the environment, economy, and human lives to source from the global market.

We go the extra mile to ensure that the arrangements we make are free of harmful chemicals and that the farms we partner with have safe work environments for their teams. Our farmers work hard year-round to grow these gorgeous blooms and we couldn't do our work without them!

CARE & HANDLING

Picking Up & Decorating With No Fuss Florals

PICK UP & TRANSPORTATION

Our No Fuss Floral packages require that you pick up our finished designs prior to your wedding. Here are some helpful tips when planning for the pick up and for transportation of those designs.

- MOVING: When loading and unloading arrangements, keep our packages flat so that you don't spill water or damage the flowers. We recommend having two people to carry each container, to ensure that things stay level.
- VEHICLES: Depending on the size of your order, a typical SUV or van maybe ample space to transport your flowers. Some orders may require much more space so please ask our staff for specific requirements.
- CLIMATE: When moving your flowers, we recommend keeping your vehicle as cool as possible, with max AC settings. It helps to get your vehicle cooled off prior to putting flowers in.

CARING FOR FLORAL ARRANGEMENTS

- TEMPERATURE: Floral arrangements must be kept cool and out of direct sunlight. Flowers that are not kept cool will wilt, so take care with their storage. It is NOT recommended to store arrangements in refrigerators. Food and flowers should not mix.
- WATER: Floral arrangements can drink a lot of water. Make time to check water levels when you arrive at your destination and carefully refill any vessels that have low water levels. When adding water, be careful not to get any petals wet. Check again just before putting flowers out on your wedding day.

DECORATING YOUR WEDDING

- When you're ready to decorate the space at your wedding celebration, consider bringing all designs out to one central location before you begin.
- Layout a sample table (especially if you're doing different styles of tables) so that anyone helping can follow your plan.
- Keep flowers out of direct sunlight and keep tall arrangements away from windy place where they might blow over.
- Be careful to keep flowers and candles spaced apart so that you don't catch anything on fire.
- Remember that your guests need space to move their food and drinks on dining tables, so keep flowers clustered closer to the center if you can.
