Seasonal Flowers

Bramble & Blossom is a proud member of the Slow Flowers community. But what the heck are "slow flowers"? Flowers brought in by turtles? Snails? Sloths? Nope! Though all of that would be cute.

Being a Slow Flowers designer means that we focus on the local, especially flowers grown within 100 miles of Pittsburgh.

Sourcing farther afield always means sourcing from American farms. No imports. Ever.

There are just too many wonderful flowers growing right here in our region and too much negative impact on the environment, economy, and human lives to source from the global market.

We go the extra mile to ensure that the arrangements we make are free of harmful chemicals and that the farms we partner with have safe work environments for their teams. Our farmers work hard year-round to grow these gorgeous blooms and we couldn't do our work without them!

Making Flower Magic

You're probably putting together lots of pieces of your wedding planning puzzle, and often that means you've got more questions than answers. That's ok! Wondering about pricing, what to expect, how we make all that magic happen? Don't worry, you're in the right place.

Here's how we make flower magic...

1. GATHERING DETAILS

- First things first, we want to hear about YOU.
- We tune in to your authentic style + your personal vision.
- Give us your wish list, we'll give you the real talk about what fits in your budget and how to make it all gorgeous with American-grown flowers.
- Our free consultation call will take no more than an hour and you'll be given a custom style board to keep.

2. MAKING PLANS

- After our chat, you'll be sent an updated style board and proposal.
- We hold your date for 7 days while you review the details.
- During that week, we offer one revision if you need some part of your proposal adjusted.
- A 25% retainer fee puts you on our calendar (yay!).

3. COLLABORATION

- Once you're on our dance card, we will be partners in design.
- Our clients have access to our extensive, beautiful collection of rental pieces at no cost. Yeah, you read that right.
- We're always down to hear your wild ideas and to help with making decisions about your wedding's look if you ever need us!

4. YOUR WEDDING DAY

- A decade of weddings has taught us that above all, extraordinary service is the most important thing we can offer.
- Our team is basically a band of flower fairies, and we'll be making things gorgeous everywhere we go.
